

ATEQ expands Mitsubishi TPMS coverage to VT56 TPMS Diagnostic Tool

Livonia, Michigan (10/11/2018) - The VT56 software version DA1-26-20 now includes new Mitsubishi TPMS coverage thanks to new patented technology, Sync ID, an enhanced OBD communication to increase OBD relearn coverage for Asian, Domestic, and European vehicles. As part of ATEQ's commitment to future-proof TPMS tool technology, users can simply update the VT56 TPMS tool to receive the latest enhanced OBDII coverage and now have the ability to reset Mitsubishi TPMS systems without the need of an additional reset accessory.

Added Mitsubishi OBDII coverage

- ASX
- Eclipse Cross
- Lancer
- Outlander
- Outlander Sport
- RVR

To check the current software version of the VT56, select the "Settings" icon on the main menu; the software version should be DA1-26-20 or later, which includes the latest Mitsubishi coverage. To purchase an update, contact your dealer or visit ateq-tpms.com, and select "Where to Buy" to find a distributor or reseller near you.

Since the launch of each TPMS Tool, ATEQ's engineering and development team have continuously improved and evolved the tool's software with bi-monthly updates. Without the need to purchase additional tools, hardware or accessories to keep up with the fast-paced TPMS market, customers can simply update their TPMS tool to get the latest functions and features. With the highest quality hardware and software built-in, customers prefer ATEQ-powered tools, making ATEQ the number one TPMS tool brand worldwide.
